Recommendations

The cities of the Asia Pacific gathered in Bandung on the occasion of the conference “Improving City Food Security and Creating Future Work Through Urban Farming Based on Culture and Technology”, recommend the following:

1. We realize that the world is facing the threat of food crisis, and even this issue has been experienced by some of the world's population resulting in inequality between those who have access to food and those who have limited access to food. The justice of access and distribution of food must be seriously concerned by various parties.
2. We concur to continue our cooperation and coordination on improving sustainable and healthy food system, by defining innovative urban food policies. We will strengthen our collaboration from governments, citizens, private sector, researchers, NGOs and media to ensure food security individually, locally, nationally and globally.
3. We are concerned about the urgency of policy on food security is necessary regarding to facilitating sustainable access, availability, stability and utilization of food which is good for people and the planet.
4. As achieving sustainable global food justice is essential for global growth and stability, we acknowledge the importance of accelerating development and deployment of program for young generation in agricultural sector in urban and peri-urban areas. We reiterate the need to support youth in agriculture by involving private sector, join research and spill over of modernized agricultural technology.
5. We recognize the need to sustain urban food security by increasing support in food policy development and in particular in urban farming, as powerful solution for food system transformation. We remain committed to working actively and encouraging constructive discussion in this regard at the global level.
